Dear Mums, Dads and Carers,

Re: Nut Allergies and Nut Products

We would like to advise parents and carers that several of our children at Coopers Lane have a serious nut allergy.

Although we have the necessary medication for these children in school, we would like to avoid anyone coming into contact with nuts or products that may contain nuts.

Can we please request that children do not bring into school any foods containing nuts. Some products may not be so obvious, for example, many cereal bars contain nut products. These should also not be sent into school.

Although most of the children with allergies know not to eat foods that have not been prepared for them, it is possible children can still have a reaction from being near these products and not necessarily from eating them. This is very serious and could result in a potentially fatal situation.

We are therefore respectfully asking all parents and carers to carefully check all foods being sent into school.

I would like to thank you all for your continued support and understanding.

Yours sincerely

Paul Hooper
